

MISSION VIEJO

Located in the bustling Saddleback Valley, Mission Viejo is a well-established Southern California city. Widely regarded as one of the largest planned communities ever built, Mission Viejo is primarily suburban with all the associated amenities. Parks, lakes, schools, malls, recreation areas, and housing communities all flourish in a city with a population of just under 100,000. As it is less expensive than nearby large metro areas, Mission Viejo is an attractive option for singles and families looking to establish themselves.
